

DISPLACEMENT SOLUTIONS

HAS MANY CAUSES

Violent conflict · Ethnic cleansing · Forced migration · War crimes · Crimes against humanity · Large-scale human rights abuses · Environmental mismanagement · Poorly planned development and infrastructure projects · Natural and manmade disasters · Global warming and climate change

AND CONSEQUENCES

From Sudan, Azerbaijan, Lebanon, Nepal and Sri Lanka, to Iraq, Bhutan, DR Congo, Burma, Pakistan, Georgia and beyond...some 100 million people now live as displaced persons and refugees.

NO REGION OF THE WORLD IS LEFT UNTOUCHED

Long-term displacement - no matter what its origin - can violate human rights, threaten fragile peace agreements and undermine reconciliation and reconstruction.

THE WORLD FACES A GLOBAL DISPLACEMENT CRISIS

TO DISPLACEMENT ARE POSSIBLE

Against all odds, millions of displaced people around the world have been helped to return to and reclaim their original homes over the past two decades.

By protecting the housing, land and property (HLP) restitution rights of all the world's displaced people, we can assist in implementing rights to:

- Return to their original homes and lands
- Just and satisfactory compensation
- Residential justice
- Equal inheritance for women
- Equality for owners and non-owners

AND INDISPENSABLE FOR JUSTICE, PEACE AND SECURITY

When HLP restitution rights are protected, people's human rights are respected, countries can begin to stabilise and economies are helped to strengthen and expand.

We now have the standards, laws, policies and know-how to help end displacement.
